

TBBC

Around another 20,000 people recently arrived on the Thai side of the Thailand-Burma border seeking shelter from the violence. Many of them were forced back into Burma by the Royal Thai Government into an unsafe environment.

Atsushi Shibuya/TBBC

Life in the camps

Many children are born to parents awaiting refugee status and have never known life outside the camps.

Christian H. Bobsi/TBBC

SITUATION UPDATE: BURMA

A woman pounds chili to make paste. With the increase in refugees as well as the continuing rise in basic food prices, protein-rich foods such as beans have had to be cut from daily rations.

Refugees receive thatch to make the roofs for their houses. Unless extra funds are provided, there will also be no new shelters built from next year.

Your gift to the Christmas Bowl can help!

can supply a family in a refugee camp on the Thailand-Burma border with one month's nutritious food.

can provide a family with a new house.

Please give to the Christmas Bowl today!

Simply fill in the attached slip and return in the reply-paid envelope, free call us on 1800 025 101 or visit: www.actforpeace.org.au